

RUSSIA DEALS HEAVY BLOWS AT TEUTONICS DRIVING THEM

Admitting Slavs Are Retiring, Petrograd Says Resistance To German Advance Is Costing Victors Out of All Proportion

ENVELOPING MOVEMENT THREATENS TEUTONICS

Forces of Czar Prepare For Mighty Offensive That May Reverse Whole Situation In East: Bulgaria and Rumania To Join

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
LONDON, June 19.—Although it is admitted that the Russians are falling back before the onslaughts of the Austro-Germans in Galicia, the resistance to the Teutonic advance is bitter and the victors are suffering casualties wholly out of proportion to the gains in territory they are making.

During the past two days of fighting near Stry, the German and Austrian losses in killed and wounded have amounted to tens of thousands, while the casualties among the Teutons along one big sector of the Galician front, in the various engagements between May 29 and June 15, are estimated in the official Petrograd despatches as between 120,000 and 150,000.

German Right Threatened

On the extreme left, the Russian line has been driven back across the Russian-Galician border, with the Austrians pressing on in pursuit, while the Russian center, according to the Petrograd claims, is being advanced against the Germans, with the possibility that the Teutonic right may be cut off from the center and crushed by an enveloping movement, or forced into a disastrious retreat, such as the Germans were obliged to make when the French brought up a fresh force against von Kluck's right in the initial advance upon Paris. Already the strategy of the Russian commander is being compared to that of General Joffre in the first big drive of the war.

Bulgaria and Rumania

Another great feature of the situation in the East is the probability of the immediate entry of Bulgaria and Rumania into the war upon the side of the Allies. Rumania, according to apparently well grounded report, reached an agreement with the Quadruple Entente some days ago, and yesterday it was reported that Bulgaria had also reached an agreement and is preparing to launch an immediate attack upon the Austrians in Galicia in conjunction with the Rumanians.

A Bulgarian-Rumanian army could be hurled across the Rumanian border directly in the rear of the Austrian force operating against the Russians in Bukovina, while, through Serbia, a Bulgarian-Serbian invasion of Hungary could be made, in co-operation with the Italian drive against Southern Austria. The entry of Bulgaria and Rumania in the war on the side of the Allies would complete the ring around Austro-Hungary.

Russians Burn Villages

The Berlin and Vienna despatches state that the Russians have been forced back in both Eastern Galicia and Northern Galicia, with the Russians holding prepared positions at Grodek. In retreating upon this last defense of Lemberg, the Russians burned all the villages en route and advised the inhabitants to leave the devastated section. The Berlin despatches state that it is expected that the decisive engagement of the Galician campaign will be fought out before Grodek.

Up to the fourteenth, in the Galician drive, states a report from the German army headquarters in the field, the Teutons have taken 161,000 Russian prisoners.

The latest Petrograd reports sent out state that the battle for the possession of Grodek, which is some fifteen miles southwest of Lemberg, is already well under way, with the Russians driving back the attempts to capture the trenches. The battle is described as the most desperate of the many fought for the possession of Lemberg. Petrograd Denies Defeat

Petrograd, in a long review of the recent Galician operations, admits that the Russians have fallen back, but denies that there has been anything in the nature of a defeat, the retirement having been effected for strategic reasons.

Famine Rages In the City of Vera Cruz

Mexican Soldiers Marching To Yaqui Valley May Oppose Landing of Marines

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
WASHINGTON, June 19.—The food situation at Vera Cruz is desperate, according to the official reports made by Rear-Admiral Caperton, commander of the Pacific cruiser squadron and at Vera Cruz aboard his flagship, the U. S. S. Washington. The despatches of the admiral state that many are already starving and that the food shortage is daily becoming worse.

Suffering Widespread

So widespread is the suffering in the temporary capital of First Chief Carranza, he states, that he is in expectation of rioting among the residents. He suggests, in view of the urgency of the situation, that some of the American warships be used as food transports, to bring needed supplies to Vera Cruz from American ports.

May Oppose Marines

From Nogales, Arizona, a despatch to the state department reports that General Maytorena has sent eight hundred soldiers, ostensibly to reduce the Yaqui Indians, who have declared war against the United States and Germany, but giving rise to widespread belief that he intends to oppose the landing of American marines from the cruisers under Admiral Howard now concentrating at Guaymas, on the Gulf of California.

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
ANNAPOLIS, June 19.—Daniel S. Appleton, a midshipman in the third year class of the naval academy, testified yesterday that he thought half the class might be guilty of having used stolen information to help them pass their examinations.

Seven midshipmen were convicted of cheating by a court composed of three of the academy faculty, and the findings are now under review by a court of inquiry ordered by Secretary Danahy.

Other midshipmen testified Thursday that the general feeling among the undergraduates was that the seven convicted men had been picked by the first court for scapegoats.

sons and with the pursuing Austro-Germans suffering much the more severely in killed, wounded and captured.

The Teutons, says the official announcement, have exhausted themselves in their continued attacks and have been drawn far away from their rail communications, leaving them short of munitions and supplies and unable to persist much longer in their offensive. The Teutons are said have lost at the rate of 15,000 a day during their Galician drive.

Further Austrian Success

A despatch last night from Vienna states that the Austrians have had a further success in Bukovina, capturing a thousand prisoners West of Lemberg. says the official despatch, the Austro-Germans have succeeded in driving the Russians back across the border north of Sniawa. The pursuit has reached the heights north of Krasow, in Russia, and the Austro-Germans have occupied the Russian town of Tarnograd.

AUSTRIAN FORTS ARE REINFORCED

Italian Invaders No Longer On Offensive Against Trient Defenses

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
ROME, June 19.—Tolmino, the key to the defense of the district bordering the Isomura river, for which the Italian and Austrian armies still are contending, is garrisoned by only 30,000 men, and despatches from the Italian base at Udine bring word that, by concentrating on it, the Italian staff believes a way to Trieste can quickly be cleared.

Before Trient, the Austrians have brought up reinforcements to the support of the hard pressed fortifications at Rovereto and Mori, where it is now reported from Verona that they have taken the offensive.

Austrian aeroplanes bombarded the line of the coast railway yesterday as far south as Fano, but did only slight damage to the right of way. Bombs were also dropped on the unfortified cities of Osimo and Rimini. Three civilians were injured and a few residences damaged. The military results were nil.

WILL OF C. R. BISHOP FILED IN OAKLAND

Niece and Nephew Each Receive One-fifth of Vast Estate

An Associated Press despatch states that the will of the late Charles Reed Bishop, who died on June 7 at the Shatt Hotel in Berkeley, California, was filed in the Oakland superior court yesterday for probate. The estate is estimated at between ten and eleven million dollars and is distributed partially as follows:

Emma Dunham, a niece of Mr. Bishop, was bequeathed a one-fifth in the distributable portion of the estate, in addition to a specific bequest of $25,000 in cash. George E. Bishop, a nephew, was also bequeathed a fifth interest, in addition to $15,000 in cash. The balance of the estate was left to several more distant relatives of the deceased and to charitable and educational institutions, among which Punahou Academy, which was endowed by Mr. Bishop during his life time to the extent of $250,000, came in for $100,000. Neither W. D. Smith nor C. Faxon Bishop, the latter being a nephew, closely associated with the late Mr. Bishop in business relations, were able to say last night whether a copy of the will could be found in Honolulu. They also said that they knew nothing of the contents of the will, from personal knowledge.

NOTTAGE-GILMAN

A very pretty wedding at the home of J. F. Brown, in Waikiki, uncle of the bride, was that of last evening when Miss Marjorie Gilman became the bride of Percy H. Nottage of the Bank of Hawaii. On the large lanai overlooking the sea, the service was read by Dr. Doremus Scudder, only relatives and intimate friends witnessing it. The bride was prettily gowned in white silk crepe de chine combined with chiffon and wore a long tulle veil. Her bridesmaids, Miss Fannie Hoogs and Miss Laura Atherton, were in yellow tulle dresses made in the latest mode, their coloring harmonizing with the decorations of golden shower. Doctor George A. Braly acted as Mr. Nottage's best man.

After a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Nottage will be at home to their friends in their pretty new bungalow in Manoa.

TRADE STAGNANT IN ALL COUNTRIES OF THE FAR EAST

W. R. Coombs Says Business Men Of Philippines Are Dissatisfied With Administration

EUROPEAN WAR HAS DEPRESSED ORIENT

Honolulu Granted Audience By President Yuan, Who Characterizes Him China's Hope

(From Saturday Advertiser.)
Walter R. Coombs, secretary of Lawyers & Cooke and chairman of the Republican County Committee, who, with Mrs. Coombs, returned on the Korea from a four-months' vacation trip to the Orient, stated yesterday that Shanghai is the only city in the Far East where business is not at a standstill on account of the war.

Hongkong is absolutely dead, Manila is very quiet and the northern Chinese ports and all of Japan are stagnant. Mr. Coombs said: "In the Philippines there is wide dissatisfaction among all classes of business men and all political parties over the present administration. The government has displaced many of the men who have made Manila what it is, and in their stead has appointed Filipinos who have even less aptitude for the management of the departments than our own native Hawaiians. Constant Political Unrest

"There is constant political unrest all through the islands. Many Americans who have made investments there in great doubt as to the future. It is not a matter of political bias, but a question of the stability of business. I found no one in Manila who approved the course along which events are shaping."

Mr. Coombs visited some time in Hongkong, which is a British city and one of the chief trade centers of China, or, as he before the war. From fifty to sixty per cent of Hongkong's import and export trade was with Germany and that is, of course, now cut off. There is a marked decrease in trade with other countries, so Hongkong is not doing at all well.

Trade Booms In Shanghai

Shanghai, the contrary, trade in the port is the gateway of Southern China. It is a rich and powerful city and while the war has affected the volume of business still flows through its doors.

Mr. Coombs visited Nanking, the old capital of southern China and saw the wonderful Ming tombs where the ancient emperors of that dynasty are buried. He went on up to Peking, saw the Great Wall, paid his respects to the President of the republic, Yuan Shi Kai, and had tea with the secretary of state. After rambling through more Ming tombs and taking in all the sights, ancient and modern, on view to western tourists, he crossed over into Manchuria.

Driven Out By Dissentions

"We were at Mukden when the trouble between China and Japan started," Mr. Coombs said. "If there had been war we never would have got out. I wanted to see more of that country, too. It is a very wonderful land."

When the warlike demonstrations began Mr. Coombs left hurriedly for home and Honolulu, going out across China—(Korea), instead of back by way of Peking. From Seoul he crossed to Shimonaki and after a few days in Japan caught the Korean, homeward bound.

"Everywhere we went in China," Mr. Coombs said, "there was something wrong with the government. It is the most interesting land there is. All China is one vast graveyard. The cemeteries are not segregated as in other countries. Where a man dies there he is buried and so fields, gardens and rice fields are pitted and scarred with the heaped up mounds which no Chinese farmer would disturb under any circumstances. I noticed that there is no such thing as continuous grain fields in China—there are too many grave mounds."

Glad to Get Home
We have had a wonderful trip but Honolulu is the best looking town I have seen yet and I am glad to get back. The United States is a good place to stay if there is war in the Orient."

Mr. Coombs said that Yuan Shi Kai is undoubtedly one of the world's greatest men.

"He is wise, tactful and diplomatic a statesman who has done more to amalgamate the Chinese people and make one homogeneous nation of them than all the rulers who have gone before him," said Mr. Coombs.

LOCAL PHYSICIAN IS UNDER ARREST ON GRAVE CHARGE

Dr. W. T. Dunn, Aboard Steamer Sonoma, Wanted Here For Statutory Offense

WIRELESS INSTRUCTIONS WERE DEPATED BY THE UNITED STATES MARSHAL YESTERDAY TO THE CAPTAIN OF THE S. S. SONOMA, TO PLACE UNDER ARREST DR. WILLIAM T. DUNN, UNTIL THE DEPARTURE OF THE STEAMER FOR AUSTRALIA THE RESIDENT PHYSICIAN OF THE QUEEN'S HOSPITAL FOR THE PAST COUPLE OF YEARS. YESTERDAY A WARRANT FOR THE ARREST OF DOCTOR DUNN ON A STATUTORY CHARGE WAS ISSUED BY THE UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER AND IT WAS ON THE STRENGTH OF THIS WARRANT THAT THE INSTRUCTIONS TO THE SONOMA COMMANDER TO ARREST, HOLD AND RETURN THE PHYSICIAN TO HONOLULU WERE WIRELESS.

Every effort to aid in the escape from the Territory of Doctor Dunn appears to have been made by the authorities of the Queen's Hospital, in the absence of Superintendent Eckart. Dunn left the hospital on Monday, slipping aboard the southbound steamer. The authorities inquired of the assistant superintendent and others at the hospital as to the whereabouts of the resident physician. They were told that Dunn had gone away on a brief vacation, on a two days' leave of absence, to some place unknown to anyone at the hospital. Some inquiries as to the missing physician were met by the slamming up of the phone.

No Information At Hospital

Last night, after the authorities had notified the associates of Dunn that a warrant for his arrest had been issued, an inquiry from The Advertiser at the Queen's Hospital brought the information that they did not know where he was.

In all probability, Doctor Dunn will be taken off the Sonoma at Pago Pago, the only American port touched at, and held there until the return of the Sonoma, which will bring him back to Honolulu to stand his trial in the federal court.

Jarrett, warden of the territorial prison, will set the hour for Pak Chi Sur's execution and make all the necessary arrangements for the gruesome ceremony, which will be private except for the presence of a few officials and others directly concerned in seeing that the party is legally carried out.

BRYAN CONCLUDES PEACE STATEMENT

Former Secretary Proposes His Treaty Plan As Preventive For Future Wars

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
WASHINGTON, June 18.—Former Secretary Bryan today issued the concluding section of his statement on the "causeless war." He suggests mediation as the way out of the international conflicts. As a preventive for war he proposed universal extension of his investigation commission and peace treaty plan.

It is this plan that led to the signing of a number of treaties between the United States and foreign countries under which disputes are to be submitted to impartial investigation. Bryan suggests that the United States again make an offer to mediate in the European war and continue its offers until its good offices are accepted.

PACIFIC MAIL TO QUIT IN AUTUMN

So Says Special Despatch To San Francisco Chronicle From New York

The latest story of the plans of the Pacific Mail comes in the San Francisco Chronicle, which prints, under date of June 19, the following special despatch from New York:

Through inability to comply with the seamen's bill and continue to meet the Japanese competition in the Pacific ocean, and because of the Panama canal act which prohibits steamship lines controlled by a railroad company to carry freight and passengers between Pacific and Atlantic ports via the canal, it is the intention of the management of the Pacific Mail steamship company to sell its vessels as soon as possible, and then dissolve.

This means the end of the only American steamship line on the Pacific. A rise of 3 1/4 points in the company's stock on the exchange today was attributed to the fact that because of the European war ships are more valuable today than they can be operated under other than United States regulations.

Of the outstanding capital of $20,000,000, more than $11,000,000 is held by the Southern Pacific Company. Owns Thirteen Vessels

The steamship company now owns thirteen vessels, with a book value of $11,298,000. Because of the passage of the Panama canal act, the Pacific Mail company was forced to cancel an order for four big steamships, to cost $12,000,000. The management announced, however, that it would continue to keep ships in operation between the Orient and the Pacific Coast, in competition with four big Japanese lines heavily subsidized by the Japanese government. The passage of the seamen's act, prohibiting employment of Oriental crews, however, has made this impossible.

Cost Is Too Great

In a table compiled by the company it is shown that the total increase in wages and cost of feeding crews which would result by operating under the seamen's act would amount to $972,042 for coastwise trade and $621,542 for deep sea traffic. The company has already announced that it would cease to sail its ships across the Pacific ocean on November 2. R. P. Schwerin, vice-president and general manager, said to a Congress committee recently:

"If you had struggled for twenty years, as I have, taken a line that was $1,250,000 in debt, doubled its traffic by slow, hard labor, raised $12,000,000 to build four 37,000-ton ships to put into the trade from New York to the Philippines and you were defeated by Congress through the canal bill and the seamen's act, I think you would be a little discouraged."

Done With The Flag

"I have given twenty years of my life, morning, noon and night, to see the American flag on the ocean, and if those four ships had been built I would have had four more for the coast of South America and four more equal to the Imperator, all under the American flag. As it is, I am done with the American flag forever. I would not raise my hand to raise a dollar for American shipping. I have no interest in the shipping business. I am about to retire."

Mr. Schwerin pointed out that the Panama canal act killed the Pacific Mail's trade for the Atlantic coast and that the Seamen's act put an end to the company's Pacific ocean business, which was all there was to kill.

Increase In Income

The Pacific Mail company's report for the year ended April 30, issued today, showed a gross income of $1,046,891, compared with $849,699 the previous year. Deductions from gross income left a net income of $588,481, an increase of $177,641.

The increase in business, the report says, is entirely attributable to the operations of trans-Pacific line due to conditions brought on by the European war. Many of the ships of the line were taken out of service as a result of which the company was able to obtain a larger proportion of the traffic.

SCANDINAVIAN NEUTRALS ARE INDIGNANT AT SUBSEA WAR

Another Norwegian Steamship Sunk and Swedish Newspapers Begin To Ask If Government Ought Not To Make Reprisals

NEWSPAPERS SHOW THAT PUBLIC IS BOILING MAD

Christiana Press Says That Ministers Must Define Attitude Or Parliament Will Make Sentiment of Nation Even Plainer

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

COPENHAGEN, June 19.—Another Norwegian steamship was sunk yesterday by a German submarine and the Scandinavian neutrals are about ready to conclude that they have turned the other cheek often enough. Since Germany opened her submarine warfare on merchant shipping, Norway, Sweden and Denmark have suffered far more heavily than the United States, though they have not been galvanized into such indignation as was aroused in America by the heavy loss of American lives in the sinking of the Lusitania.

Now, however, public opinion is beginning to boil over. Anger is rising in Stockholm, and the newspapers of the Swedish capital are beginning to ask whether the government ought not to consider the advisability of making reprisals.

Germany has done an enormous import business through the Scandinavian neutral companies and, if they should shut off their trade with her, the blow would hamper her more seriously in an economic way than could open hostilities with the United States.

The vessel torpedoed was the steamship Sveinjar. Norwegian newspapers assert that she carried German spies, as, they say, have other steamers that were torpedoed, and they earnestly and soberly ask the government to "take appropriate action."

Almost as a unit, the Christian newspapers this morning demand that the government put itself on record in a clear statement of its attitude toward the activities of German submarines. Says the influential Morgenbladet:

"If the government persists longer in leaving its attitude doubtful, parliament, speaking for the nation, must make its voice heard."

JAPAN WILL PROTEST BOYCOTT BY CHINESE

Premier Okuma Asks Cabinet To Warn President Yuan

(Special to Nippon Jiji)

TOKYO, June 18.—Premier Count Okuma called a special conference of the cabinet today to issue a protest to the Peking government against the increasing boycott of Japanese goods throughout the Chinese republic. No reply has been received.

The Chinese boycott of Japanese goods has become so serious in many parts of China that commercial failures of Japanese houses are becoming alarmingly frequent. The boycott has even been extended to Chinese merchants who handle anything made in Japan.

In many places anonymous letters and placards urging an extension of the boycott are circulated every night. Chinese officials disclaim any connection with the propaganda, and say they are unable to identify the ring leaders.
